Copper Clutch Disc

- New frictional composite that achieves original like operability and heat resistance with stable operability throughout low to high temperatures.
- The clutch facing is made by molding copper and carbon with a special manufacturing method which provides heat and wear resistance.
- Easy to handle half-clutch characteristics and natural feeling controllability.
- Recommended for street to sports driving.

Metal Clutch Disc

- Metal facing clutch with excellent wear resistance which eliminates slip even under tough conditions.
- Weight reduced by adopting a unique shape and low density metal.
- Despite being a reinforced product, the control performance remains similar to genuine even with the half-clutch characteristics.
- Recommended for sports to competition driving.

CUSCO Clutch Cover

- Strong cover that increases the well-balanced load and reliably transmits power.
- Excellent and sharp gear connections which is essential for sports driving.
